Medium /Artistic background

Art medium

Mixed media on canvas and paper.

Inês Pardal, tries to explore different techniques in different supports.

The canvas support is often made by the artist herself, using raw linen or cotton on which she gives a gross treatment with glue and white paint, so that the surface can absorb the first watered sketch.

Relative to the paper support, she uses cotton paper, and usually without any treatment.

Inês uses a wide variety of materials in her paintings such as: Gold leaf, pigments, glues, textiles, pastes, varnishes, sealers ...

Art Training

Dharma background

1. Since 2006
2. Jigme Khyentse Rinpoche, Tulku Pema Wangyal and Rangdröl Rinpoche.

Artistic Intent

1. With my artistic work I intend to propitiate a connection between the art work and the people who sees it. I make the aspiration that all beings that come in contact with these works may have access to authentic teachers and be guided to ultimate freedom.
2. In the last years of my artistic activity, my works are dedicated to a particular subject: The Dharma, emphasizing faces and culture related with the great beings, this works were developed between 2010 and 2014 whose main theme focuses on Dharma and great masters of Tibet. Recently I've started new works more general but still focused on the same subject. In some way doing these works is part of my practice.
3. The Dharma leaded me to a new direction of my art work.
